THE REUNION OF CLASSES BANQUET

The reunion banquet Saturday evening was attended by some eight hundred graduates and spouses. Mr. Spevacek opened the meeting after the dinner; which was served by Freddie Brick of Manitowoc; thanking him for a fine catering service, explained the purpose of the gathering, what it meant to the garduates, and the good that could be accomplished if an alumni association were organized.

The response of the graduates was overwhelming. Their enthusiasum brought , to light their desire to form an Alumni Association at this meeting. On a vote taken, the response was almost unanimous.

The next order of business;then; was to elect a slate of officers. Nominations were in order for a President. Ernst Guex was nominated, and with out further adue, a motion was made that the secretary cast a unanimous ballot for Ernst Guex. On a vote taken, Ernst Guex was practically unanimously elected. The Vice Presidents elected were Lester Kornely, Mrs. Clyde Rau, and Roger Shavlik, with Mrs. Richard Heyroth as secretary. The officers of The Reunion Of Classes will act in an advisory capacity.

It was these officers that were empowered to draw up a constitution and By-Laws for the Alumni Association, and present them for approval at the next annual meeting.

The meeting was ajourned, and Mr. Spevacek turned over the program to William lukes; master of ceremonies; who welocomed the gathering with a few remarks, and a song, "Old Acquaintance", directed by Paul Novachek, accompanied by Judy Dvorak at the piano.

The Committee of the Reunion Of Classes was fortunate to get two renouned and accomplished speakers, Professor L.O.Tetzlaff, Registrar at the State Teachers College, Oshkosh, Wis.,,graduate of the class of,1920, an Milton Zeddies, Attorney for Midland Cooperative, Minnesota, graduate of the class of 1927.

Mr. Lukes introduced the first speaker Professor L.O. Tetzlaff in a concise introduction. Professor Tetzlaff spoke with a great deal of enthusiasum. "As Alumni we try to live our lives by three great principles, faith, hope, and charity, and perhaps adding a fourth, in this spunik world, living fully one day at a time, " Professor Tetzlaff remarked.

"Number one is faith, continued faith in yourself, faith in the free public system of education such as you and I have been privileged and faith in God. The second one is hope, where thereis faith there is hope, because without faith there is no hope. The third is charity, because where you find faith and hope there is bound to be charity. Not the kind of charity that you and I most often think of, but the charity to help fellow men."

I challenge you fellow Alumni to set your sights as an eagle to continue to be worthy of your heritage and seek to establish, and maintain an Alumni Fund Scholarship to help worthy needy students of this high school to, continue on to higher education.

He cited an instance in 1923, when ten of the of the world's most successful financiers met at Edge Water Beach Hotel in Chicago. Twenty five years later these men were insane, died of sucide or were poverty stricken. He concluded by congradualating the Reunion Committee on a job well done, and emphasized congradulations on the people of the district in their progressive actions in furthering education.

Mr. Lukes then introduced, attorney Milton Zeddies, and gave a summary of his accomplishments. Attorney Zeddies took the speaker's stand. " Before we get carried away with the idea that this beautiful new school is a panacea for future intelectual development, let us remind our selves that education is not characterized altogether by the school plants and facilities which are a part of the business of education. There is no education unless there is learning.

This school will be able with a competent staff to do much and contribute greatly to the learning process in this community. However, if it will do its best job, it must operate in a proper climate. It must be considered by you parents as a substitute for parental care, security and guidance," he remarked. " There is just one area of parental responsibility, out of many, about which I would like to say a few words, namely teaching discipline in life. Teachers cannot be expected to transform children who are spoiled at home into orderly well balanced human beings. Teachers are not Phychiatrists an d the school can impose no stronger discipline than the parents will exercise or support. Discipline is needed in school, not only for the better management of classes and study, but because of its value as a habit in later life.

In conclusion, I am convinced that a generation of engineers and scientists alone will not promote the best interests of civiliztion. We need a generation of mature wholesome citizens to whom we have taught discipline in life and upon which this school, and all other schools, can bring its influence in the best possible climate for learning.

Mr. William Lukes then introduced Mr. Otto Schultz, Administrator of the school. " I think personally while in Mishicot,this is the most impressive gathering witnessed while here. I didn't think it could be done, " said Mr. Schultz. The Reunion Committee did a marvelous job and should receive all the credit." He expressed his gradtitude for the organization of the Alumni Associtíon of Mishicot High School.

Graduates left with memorable thoughts, to continue celebrating at the dance at Levenhagen's hall that evening, and the parade of graduates to come Sunday after noon.

My Sincere Appreciation . . .

As chairman of the General Committee, and in behalf of the committee, I wish to express my thanks to all those too numerous to mention, who have contributed their time and efforts in various ways to make this program a success.

My thanks are extended to the members of the many sub-committees who worked so conscientiously, and have given freely of their time, which was of inestimable value to the performance of this function; to the many graduates who were so helpful in the various necessary phases of work to be done, including the graduating class of 1958, the last class to graduate from the old school; to the members of the Board of Education who have been so cooperative, and especially to Mr. Otto Schultz, Supervising Principal of the Mishicot Community School, who has been so helpful in planning accommodations and furnishing data and material of historical value, and to the many donors and advertisers who have contributed so greatly toward this program.

I also wish to express my sincere thanks to Mr. and Mrs Edward Zima, who freely accommodated this committee in the recreation room of their home for the numerous meetings that have been held in the many months of planning this "Reunion of Classes of Mishicot High School."

SOME THOUGHTS ON OUR AMERICAN TRADITION

Thank you very much Clarence. Mr. Chairman, officers of the Alumni Association, ladies and gentlemen. It's a real pleasure to be here and I'd like to tell you all that our family, my brothers and sisters and I, feel a deep sense of gratitude for this community. We have a very warm feeling about coming back here. We remember the kindliness, the friendships, the respect that you showed our parents. And I remember the same thing that you showed my brothers and sisters. I want to thank you all very much.

Incidentally ladies and gentlemen, this is the first time that I've had a chance to have so many members of the Stoneman family where they can't talk back, and I intend to take advantage of it, but not for too long.

Clarence was kind enough to meet brother Bill and me at the airport. We had dinner together last night. I hadn't had an opportunity to write him because I have been traveling and after dinner I said, "Clarence, what would you like to have me do at this meeting tomorrow night?" "Oh," he said, "We'd like to have you say a few words." "Well," I said. "Who is your principal speaker?" He said, "You are." I swallowed a couple of times, thought it over, and then said, "How about fifteen or twenty minutes?" He said, "Fifteen."

I was reminded of the story about the late President Wilson who was approached by some of his friends and asked to give a speech about two months down the road, a fifteen minute speech. He said, "I think that will be alright, I have two months." So one of the men said, "Supposing we'd asked you to speak for thirty minutes?" "Well," he said, "In that case I'd only need a month." "Suppose," he said, "We asked you to speak for an hour?" Wilson said, "I'm ready right now!"

In this case the short notice isn't too much of a disadvantage. This isn't a formal speech. This is an expose' of some of my beliefs and convictions to old friends, and I'd like to talk to you as old friends. I'd like to talk to you more or less off the cuff. I hope that the remarks I make will be helpful to the association.

But before discussing my own beliefs and convictions, I'd like to spend just a minute reviewing the climate in which we live and some of the significant factors that I think affect all of us. As individuals we pursue quite different activities. They are diverse activities and we have diverse interests, but we have one thing in common. That is the effect of change on our activities and on the organizations and institutions which we represent. In this decade--- the decade of the sixties--- American industry will spend one hundred twenty billion dollars on research and development, and that my friends, is more money than was spent on science and technology in the period of 1776 to 1960, one hundred and eighty five years.

As a result we are going to be subject to more change, and it's going to be triggered by technological progress. It will have an impact on every segment of our lives, and each of us has a responsibility to it. The magnitude and increasing improtance of this responsibility can be appreciated by observing the accelerating rate of development of our technology. We must conclude that we are in a whirlwind of change which will most certainly place great demands on our ability to respond intelligently.

Change is frequently used by some schools of thought to argue that old values and old institutions should be discarded and new ideas and new concepts adopted. Concepts such as honesty, loyalty, integrity and trustworthiness don't change because of some technical discovery. Rather, they become more important. The placing of a communication satellite 25,000 miles above us in the heavens which gives us instant communication with almost any point in the world makes it more important than ever before that we have people with integrity.

But coming back to Mishicot from that satellite going around the world, there are things that I learned here that were of great value and I feel a deep sense of gratitude toward this high school, toward the tax payers who built it, toward the people who supported it and toward the teachers who dedicated so much of their lives to teaching us.

I'll confess that at times my compatriots and I resisted this learning, this offering of knowledge, but we didn't resist it so successfully that we didn't acquire enough to do us a lot of good. I think it was here in this community that I learned the fundamentals of our American Tradition.

I was encouraged to believe that I could shape my own destiny and I learned that freedom is the product of self government and self discipline. I was encouraged to set my own standards. I was respected as an individual and hence I learned to respect others. I was made aware that I was responsible for my own act. In short, it was here that I achieved an understanding of a concept of man which has been most valuable to me throughout my life.

Now this concept of man is quite different from the concept being preached and practiced currently by many of our leading citizens. The opposing concept springs from the so-called "Freudian Ethic" and it pictures man as helpless before his subconscious drives. It pictures him as helpless before the external pressures that work on him or bear on him; it pictures him as being tossed on a turbulent sea of so-called socio-economic forces that create an environment against which he is helpless. You are all familiar with the conclusion that the proponents of this theory of the new concept of man arrive at. They conclude that society, not man, is responsible for his act. These two concepts, of course, are as opposite as the poles.

I believe, very deeply, that pursuing the former fully develops the integrity, the dignity and the potential of the individual.

It gives him an opportunity to grow, it gives him opportunity to progress, it develops our democratic institutions and insures peace and prosperity in our nation and the world.

I also believe very deeply that pursuing the opposite concept leads to the decline of the individual, the destruction of integrity, the abandonment of self discipline and hence the loss of personal freedom and the decay of our democratic institutions.

Our American Traditions and our great American Heritage rest upon the concept of man I learned right here at Mishicot High School. Let's examine this concept, let's pursue it a little further, let's do this without emotion, let's look at it logically and see whether or not it makes sense.

Man has a capacity to love his country, his family and his fellow man and it's this capacity that motivates him to set worthy goals. Goals always represent a design of some future structure or event. When man expresses belief in a goal, in the design of a future structure he hopes to bring into being, he is expressing faith, and when he expresses faith in future events he is accepting the truth of one of my favorite Bible passages: Hebrews, Chapter 2, Verse 1, "Forfaith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen."

Why shouldn't we have faith? Everything man has produced up to this very minute has always been available to him. He had only to discover it. This is an important thing for us to remember. It's a great lesson in humility. We do not create. What we so often call creativity is but discovery of that which already exists and its use.

A man's faith has another important aspect. Without faith man cannot lead because leaders are men who present practical plans for the solution of problems and men don't plan unless they have faith in their ability to produce a future event which is not now present. Hence faith represents the essence of leadership. When man join hands, hearts and their minds to probe the infinite source of ideas for the answers to their problems they create the strongest bond that's possible for them to have.

What I'm talking about is really the objective of education. You'll agree won't you that the objective of education is a search for truth and utilizing truth for the progress of the individual and for the progress of society. I think it's apparent that man's capacity to love, his willingness to set worthy goals and his faith in achieving goals are fundamental to his capacity to control his own destiny. He understands that thoughts can become things, and he used these forces to help him reach his goal.

Thus we see that our concept of man has a spiritual basis and herein lies the real strength of our American Traditions and our American Heritage.

It's so tragic to see some of our law makers, some of our sociologists, some of our politicians and some of our educators attempt to push the Creator out of any portion of our lives or the lives of our children. And I would ask you, regardless of your political affiliation, to support Senator Dirksens' effort to get a Constitutional Amendmant through the Senate on this subject.

In the few minutes remaining I would like to direct a few remarks toward our younger graduates. Don't ask me to define that word "younger" as I don't know quite how I would do it on this occasion. It's well for us to remind ourselves of the fundamental principles that operate in our free society. I like the summation of these principles published by the American Economic Foundation.

1. Nothing in our material world can come from nowhere or go nowhere, nor can it be free: everything in our economic life has a source, a destination, and a cost that must be paid.

2. Government is never a source of goods. Everything produced is produced by the people, and everything that government gives to the people, it must first take from the people.

3. The only valuable money that government has to spend is that money taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government decides to spend more than it has thus receive, that extra unearned money takes on value only by reducing the value of all money, savings, and insurance.

4. In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment come from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security.

5. Customer security can be achieved by the worker only when he cooperates with management in doing the things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only in a spirit of understanding and cooperation.

6. Because wages are the principal cost of everything, widespread wage increases, without corresponding increase in production, simply increase the cost of everybody's living.

7. The greatest good for the greatest number means, in its material sense, the greatest goods for the greatest number, which, in turn, means the greatest productivity per worker.

8. All productivity is based on three factors: 1) natural resources, whose form, place, and condition are changed by the expenditure of 2) human energy (both muscular and mental). with the aid of 3) tools.

9. Tools are the only one of these three factors that man can increase without limit, and tools come into being in a free society only when there is a reward for the temporary self-denial that people must practice in order to channel part of their earnings away from purchases that produce immediate comfort and pleasure, and into new tools of production. Proper payment for the use of tools is essential to their creation.

10. The productivity of the tools - that is, the efficiency of the human energy applied in connection with their use- has always been highest in a competitive society in which the economic decisions are made by millions of of progress-seeking individuals, rather than in a state-planned society in which those decisions are make by a handful of all-powerful people, regardless of how well-meaning, unselfish, sincere and intelligent those people may be.

Basic economics are really quite straight forward and logical and are not upset by change, so don't be confused or misled by someone telling you that the world is changing so radically that all established precepts must be scrapped. This is a lot of hogwash.

The thoughtful person of my generation has faith in the young people of America. We see and hear much adverse criticism of todays teen-agers, but to my mind this criticism applies only to a small minority. The great majority of our young people are really performing very creditably and are actually carrying a much larger burden than we did when I was in their age bracket. They live in a much more complex world. Therefore, they have greater, not lesser need, to hang on to the fundamentals of their American Traditions and their American Heritage.

Thank You very much.
